

#112

NAME

Copernicium was named after astronomer Nicolaus Copernicus, confirmed on his 537th birthday.

LIQUID

Due to relativistic effects copernicium is thought to be a volatile liquid that acts like a noble gas.

TEXT

Copernicium's longest-lived isotope has a half-life of 28 seconds. It has no uses outside research.